NADIA ABUELEZAM

Join us for a supper of Middle East cuisine featuring a presentation by Boston-based Palestinian-American Nadia Abuelezam, a Research Fellow at the Harvard School of Public Health and the founder of Palestinians Podcast.

Nadia envisions this new podcast as a means of giving Palestinians a voice and as an opportunity to humanize themes common within the Palestinian narrative - isolation, resistance, and separation from home - through the sharing of personal stories.

She will discuss the process of confronting her own personal labels, feelings, and perceptions throughout podcast creation and will explore the unifying nature of storytelling and the resilience of the Palestinian people.

Advance registration required by November 2nd.
